How About That Old Range

You've threatened so many times to throw out the kitchen window. Isn't it just about the best time in the whole year to go range hunting? Take an afternoon off and look them ALL over, inside and out. We'll show you a thing or two about a Crawford you won't find in any of the others, and that will open your eyes to brighter days in the kitchen than you now think possible.

Ask a Few Crawford Users.

They'll tell you more than we'd dare—you'd think we were stretching it. They'll tell you it will roast or bake at 4 p. m. as well as 10 a. m.; that it will bake rolls or biscuit 20 minutes after you've gotten your fire under way in the morning, and a host of other things you might wink your eye at if we told them. Today is none too soon to make the change.

VOTE INFORMALLY TO REMOVE THE GOVERNOR.

Motion to Disqualify Him from Ever Holding Office Lost.

Court Reported to Have Found Sulzer Guilty in Four Articles.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 16.—The high court of impeachment which is trying Governor William Sulzer adjourned shortly after 1 o'clock today, to meet again at 3 o'clock this afternoon, at which time, it was announced, a start would be made on the final vote on the guilt or innocence of the governor.

It was reported that the court voted informally, in its secret session this morning, to remove the governor from office, by a ballot of 43 to 14. A vote to disqualify him from ever holding another office under the state was lost, it was said. There was not a single vote favorable to disqualification, it was reported.

Every article of impeachment was voted upon separately, according to news which leaked out of the court-room, and not all of them were sustained. Those on which the governor was reported to have been held guilty are articles 1, 2 and 6, and 4 of the impeachment charges. The three first are the "money articles," having to do with the alleged falsification of the governor's campaign statement and the misuse of contributions. Article 4 relates to the suppression of evidence by the governor before the Frawley committee, including the testimony of Duncan Peck, superintendent of public works.

The members of the court who, according to report, voted not guilty and against removal were Judge Edgard M. Cullen, presiding; five Republican, six Democratic, one Independence League and one Republican Progressive senator.

Behind closed doors, after a day spent in private consultation similar to that of a jury or a legislative committee in executive session, the court Wednesday evening registered its opinion that Governor Sulzer was guilty on the first article of the articles of impeachment presented by the Assembly. There was a roll-call, which resulted, if the reports taken to Governor Sulzer by his agents are correct, 39 to 18 against him. Senator Ramsperger of Buffalo voted for him at first, then changed his vote.

This vote, thus registered, is not a formal, final vote. It was the understanding of the court that it was preliminary and that the members will have opportunity, if they desire, to register their votes differently on the formal roll call.

However, it is entirely improbable that any result more favorable to Governor Sulzer will be reached, for the court, earlier in the afternoon, had registered a vote against him even heavier on another matter. The question then under discussion was whether the phraseology of article 4 was sufficiently broad to permit consideration of the testimony of Duncan W. Peck, as a substantive charge against the governor under that article. The court voted that it was, and the article need not be amended. It is reported that the vote on this was 41 to 16 for the sufficiency of the article, although another report has it that the court was even stronger in its expression on the subject—44 to 13.

Article 1, on which the court voted that the governor was guilty, charges him with filing with the secretary of state a false statement of his campaign reports and disbursements. It was one of those objected to by counsel for Governor Sulzer at the beginning of the trial. articles 1, 2 and 4, the false statement, perjury and larceny articles. These were admitted pro forma by a ruling of President Cullen, and decision on them reserved until the close of the case.

The vote on article 1 registered not only the opinion of the court as to the admissability, but the question of the governor's guilt or innocence on the charge thus presented to the court.

Efforts to attach significance to the informal votes were denounced by many of the senators today as unjust, both to the members of the court itself and to the governor. It was pointed out that not only questions of fact were being discussed and decided in the case of each article, but also the legal admissability of the article, and that while a member might vote to admit the article from a legal point of view on his informal vote, he might decide that the governor was guilty under the evidence when it came to his formal vote, or vice versa.

The eight articles are to be voted on separately in the order in which they came. The names of senators and judges will not be called in the ordinary manner of taking a roll-call, but as the clerk reads each name as will also ask the member if he desires to vote guilty or not guilty, so that there can be no mistake in recording the verdict. Not until after the eight articles have been voted on can a vote be taken on whether Governor Sulzer should be removed from office.

Conviction on even one article is sufficient ground on which to remove him, but on the other hand conviction on all the articles need not mean necessarily that he would be cast out. He might be found guilty and still be permitted to retain his office. The extreme penalty is removal from office and prohibition from ever again holding a position of honor or trust under the state.

WIRELESS PHASE OF THE VOLTURNO TRAGEDY.

Story Sent to Associated Press by Senior Operator.

Remained on Steamer Until Last Boat Left With Captain and Others.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The wireless phase of the Volturno tragedy is told in the following log of Senior Operator W. Seddon of the lost ship sent to The Associated Press by wireless from the Kroonland:

"Steamer Kroonland, October 16.—October 9, Volturno found to be on fire 6:55 a. m., lat. 49,12 north, 34.51 west longitude. At that time my junior, Mr. Pennington, was on watch when captain gave orders send out distress signals, which done immediately.

"We then called steamers Carmania, Seydlitz, Grosser Kurfuerst, individually. Immediately finished calling. Seydlitz answered. We gave him our position. Replied was coming under forced steam to our aid.

"Just as junior gave out position I reached cabin. Immediately gave out distress call as soon as finished with Seydlitz, getting instant reply from Carmania. Then gave him position. His reply was "Coming all speed. Now 59 miles from you. Hope reach you 3 p. m. (Greenwich meridian) time," but he arrived 2:10 p. m. During this time we kept up incessant communication. After giving Carmania position Grosser Kurguest answered. Then I again gave position. He replied: "Coming all speed."

"Great difficulty experienced in receiving, owing to occasional earthing of aerial through leaks coming into connection water tanks on deck, this caused by sagging of aerial, owing foremast supports giving way. After some time they managed to get mast propped, then leads altered right position. No more earthing took place; signals quite O. K. Further hampered by ship rolling, so great almost impossible send at times.

"Carmania sent out calls. About half hour later I was in communication steamer Kroonland, 105 miles distant. Also gave him position. He replied 'Cheer up old man; coming all speed your rescue.'

"Five p. m. steamer Seydlitz came alongside to windward; 30 minutes later Grosser Kurfuerst arrived. At this time Carmania, 10 miles distant, cruising for our missing boats, which left ship when fire broke out. On request returned immediately. All this time in continuous communication with all ships round us. Received prompt reply all this time.

"1:06 (Greenwich meridian time) power set gave out. Did best. Used it as long as possible. Towards end current so poor junior holding starting handle taking out all resistance. Then commenced use emergency set, which lasted 12 midnight (Greenwich meridian time), when owing magazine explosion blowing away aerial could work no longer. Worked set from outbreak fire, thus keeping communication 17 hours; then only left posts owing aerial going. If this not occurred accumulators would have lasted several hours longer.

"I wish to mention from start junior stood by me, deserves great credit for way rendered valuable assistance, conveying messages to and from captain who forward fighting flames. When we could not do more inside cabin, did what little possible on deck. This very little owing passengers refusing jump for boats which could not come right alongside owing suction being great.

"Two a. m. (Greenwich meridian time) October 10, junior jumped for Kroonland's boat, captain's orders. Picked up unconscious I stayed until last boat left with the captain, chief engineer remainder crew.

"W. Seddon, senior operator, steamship Volturno."

CAPTAIN INCH ON BOARD.

Steamer Kroonland Expected With 90 Volturno Survivors Today.

NEW YORK, October 16.—Steamer Kroonland, one of the vessels last summoned by wireless went to the aid of the Volturno, on fire in mid-ocean, is expected to dock here about 5:30 p. m. today. On board the Kroonland are Captain Inch of the Volturno and about 90 other survivors of the disaster.

ANOTHER MAN INDICTED.

Three New York Brokers to Appear Before United States Court.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 16.—Another indictment was returned today by the special session of the federal grand jury, which Friday last indicted Edward B. Metcalf, former president of the Atlantic National Bank, for the alleged misapplication of $200,000 of the bank's funds, and four New York financiers charged with having aided and abetted him. The bank failed last April. Like the previous indictments, the one returned today was not filed and its nature was withheld. The jury was excused, to report again this afternoon.

James P. Allen, Orinn Farrar and Henry E. DeKay, three of the New York brokers indicted as accomplices of Metcalf in the alleged misapplication of $200,000, have been taken into custody, while John W. DeKay has not as yet been apprehended. The three men now under arrest will be brought before the United States court in New York tomorrow afternoon for a hearing on the question of their removal to this jurisdiction.

JOHN J. RICHARDS.

Nominated as United States Marshal for District of Rhode Island.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—President Wilson made these nominations today:

United States judge, District of Connecticut—Edwin H. Thomas.

United States Marshal, District of Rhode Island—John J. Richards.

The President also sent in the names of the native Philippine commissioners whose appointment were announced yesterday.

TWO MORE COAL BARGES ADDED TO WRECK LIST.

The Oakland and Thomas Go Down in Pamet River.

Four Additional Lives Believed to Have Been Lost in Gale.

HIGHLAND LIGHT, Mass., Oct. 16.—Two more coal barges were added to the list of wrecked vessels and possibly four more lives were lost in the northeast gale, which at 10 o'clock today had been sweeping the southeastern Massachusetts coast at an average speed of 60 miles an hour, for 60 consecutive hours.

The lost barges were the Oakland, from which two men made an unsuccessful attempt to reach shore yesterday, only to be drowned, and the J. B. Thomas of New York, which tug Thomas J. Scully left at anchor five miles off Pamet river Tuesday night. The Oakland sank at daylight, about 200 yards from the beach abreast of the Pamet river life saving station, and three miles north of the place where her companion, the Sumner R. Mead, was wrecked Tuesday morning, after her crew had been rescued by tug Paoli. The Paoli went back for the two men on the Oakland who had anchored their barge, but they refused to leave. They were drowned yesterday while attempting to reach shore in their dory.

Tug Thomas J. Scully had almost weathered the cape Tuesday, with barges J. B. Thomas and Knickerbocker, when the latter began to leak. Realizing that they could not make Provincetown in the teeth of the gale, the skipper of the Scully signalled the Thomas to anchor and started south over the shoals with the fast-filling Knickerbocker. The Scully reached Nobska just in time to beach the barge. The Thomas rode out the gale for 24 hours without trouble, but yesterday it was seen that the donkey engine was at work and it was apparent that the craft was leaking. She was anchored at that time about three miles off the beach between the Pamet river and Cahoons Hollow life saving stations.

The early morning patrol today discovered the deck house of a barge on the beach and a few minutes later a metallic lifeboat, bearing the name "J. B. Thomas," was cast up on shore. The life savers at once began a search for bodies, in the belief that all hands, probably four men, had been lost, although it was admitted that they might have been taken off during the night.

Word was received this morning that tug Paoli, which had the Oakland and Sumner R. Mead in tow, and which took the crew of the latter to Vineyard Haven Tuesday, sailed from that port last evening, in the hope of picking up the Oakland. The Paoli had not been sighted off here up to 9 o'clock today, but some of the life savers surmised that she might have arrived alongside the J. B. Thomas in time to rescue the crew. Captain Collins of the Pamet river life station was of the opinion, however, that the Thomas went to pieces about midnight and the Paoli did not reach her.

For length and severity the mid-October storm of 1913 will have a niche by itself in the long history of tempestuous weather on Cape Cod. The gale began shortly before midnight Monday, the first pleasant day in nearly a week. With the break in the weather, an immense fleet of storm-bound schooners, tugs and barges on both sides of the Cape started forth from Boston and Vineyard Haven. The greater portion of those from the Vineyard had weathered the shoals, when, without the slightest warning, the weather suddenly became boisterous with the wind shifting, once more to the northeast.

The Thomas Scully and the Paoli, leaders of the northbound fleet, lost three out of their four barges. Schooner Henry D. May, after a collision with a barge in tow of the Piedmont was lost on the Stone Horse shoal Tuesday, while several other schooners had their sails blown away, including the Henrietta A. Whitney. Fishing schooner Georgie Pearl was blown across 10 miles of seething rips off Nantucket and her crew rescued by the Surf Side life savers. The storm drove the rest of the northbound fleet back over the shoals and at dark Tuesday 27 barges were at anchor under the Dennis shore, near the mouth of Bass river, while their tugs were back in Vineyard Haven. Up under Nobska last night were half a dozen other northbound schooners, including tugs Mary E. Scully and Thomas J. Scully.

The weather cleared slightly last evening, but the storm set in again at midnight and at sunrise today was raging violently.

Barge J. B. Thomas was owned by the Scully Towing Company of New York and was loaded with 2,000 tons of coal from Philadelphia for Boston. She was in command of Captain William Melansie and carried a crew of probably three men.

The officials of the Scully company were inclined today to doubt the report of the loss of the J. B. Thomas, but the life savers declared that there was sufficient wreckage on the beach to show that a deck house had been washed away, while frequent glimpses off shore showed no signs of the vessel which was anchored three miles off the beach yesterday.

STORM STILL OVER BOSTON.

No Abatement in 60-Mile Gale Which Has Lasted for Hours.

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—A 60-mile gale for 60 consecutive hours was the weather record at 10 o'clock today of a disturbance which came in from sea Monday night and caused death and disaster along the coast. The storm was beyond the vision of the weather authorities at the regular 8 o'clock observation Monday, so a prediction of fair weather Tuesday, with westerly winds, was the bulletin issued.

The prediction was not two hours old before Cape Cod and Nantucket shoals were being swept by a north-

SUNDAY SCHOOL PROGRAM.

W. E. Carpenter of Brazil to be Guest of Convention in Providence.

The thirty-third annual convention of the Rhode Island Sunday School Association will be held October 28-29 in the First Universalist Church, Providence. In connection with the convention the seventeenth annual banquet will be held at noon on the closing day and a special program of speakers is now being arranged.

The convention will open at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning with an address by Rev. Marcus D. Buell, D. D., of Boston University School of Theology, on "The Teacher's Historic Imagination." The report of the world's Sunday School convention, held in Zurich, Switzerland, last June, will be presented by Herbert M. Clarke of Phenix at the afternoon session. Mr. Clarke was the delegate of the Rhode Island Association.

In the evening the graduation classes of 1912 and 1913 will be held, addressed by Rev. F. M. White, pastor of the Union Baptist Church. His subject will be "The Pedagogy of Jesus."

Professor S. J. McWatters of Boston University will open the second day of the convention on Wednesday morning at 9:30 with a dramatic Bible reading. Professor MacWatters is a teacher of elocution in Brown University and will deliver the "Drama of St. Paul" in the exact words of the scripture. He will dress in costume and, so far as possible, present a true likeness of the Apostle Paul.

The guest of the convention for Wednesday is to be W. E. Carpenter of Brazil, Ind., superintendent of the First Methodist Episcopal Sunday School of Brazil, the largest in the world, having nearly 5,000 members in a town with a population of 9,340. A special luncheon for Sunday school superintendents, assistant superintendents and clergymen will be held Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, in order to give those workers an opportunity to meet and confer with Mr. Carpenter.

The closing session of the convention is to be known as adult Bible class night and the program will be in charge of Charles R. Haslam, president of the Federation of Bible Classes of Providence and vicinity.

CAPTAIN INCH'S HEROISM.

The Volturno's Commander Badly Injured in Fighting the Flames.

A wireless message from one of the survivors on the Kroonland tells of Captain Inch's heroism. Although the Volturno's commander did not mention the fact in his own story of the disaster, it developed that he was badly injured in fighting the flames. When he finally boarded the Kroonland, his doomed ship at last abandoned, his face was scorched and blackened from fire and smoke, his arms and hands were burned, his uniform was charred and in tatters, and the flames had practically eaten the shoes from his feet as he trod the hot decks.

All the while he preserved his poise, and though nearly exhausted, calmed his passengers with cheerful, hopeful words, and did not cease his efforts until he had seen to it himself that the last of those in his care were off the ship in safety and that those who had gone with him to the Kroonland had been given proper care and suitable clothing.

PORTSMOUTH.

Funeral of William B. Fish—Mrs. Eldredge's Social Tea for Teachers.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

The funeral of William B. Fish took place from his late residence on the East Main road Wednesday at noon. The burial service was read by Rev. Anson B. Howard of St. Paul's Church, who also read the committal service at the grave in the Portsmouth cemetery, where he was buried in the family lot. The bearers were Oliver G. Hicks, David B. Anthony, Luther P. Chase and Atwell F. Hedly. There were numerous beautiful floral tributes, among them a wreath of chrysanthemums with the word "Brother," from his three sisters, and many long flat bouquets of yellow, white, variegated and rose chrysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. Aurion Chevers, Mrs. Chevers being a niece, from Boston were in attendance at the funeral.

Wednesday evening was so stormy that the social set planned for the teachers at her home by Mrs. J. M. Eldredge, superintendent of schools, was attended by only three of the number: Mrs. Marina Eady of Cranston, Miss Mulligan of the intermediate, Newtown, and Miss Steere of the Bristol Ferry school.

Miss Esther Bishop has entered upon her duties as bookkeeper and assistant postmaster in William H. Gifford's store in Westport.

Miss Jane Dennis will entertain the Sunday School of Holy Trinity Church at her home, "Willow Brook," on the afternoon of Saturday, October 25.

Mrs. Joseph H. Crost and her four sons are moving into Mrs. Mary C. Chase's house at the head of Quaker hill.

Mrs. Jennie M. Gregg of Fall River, who has been making her aunt, Mrs. T. E. Perry, a long visit, returned home Wednesday.

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

The weekly meeting of the Paradise Club was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Thomas L. Sorrell, South Aquidneck avenue, Wednesday afternoon. There was a good attendance in spite of the bad weather. The program was devoted to "Historical Philadelphia," articles on William Penn, the Quaker City, Independence Hall, Notable Buildings and Gerard College, being read from P. F. Collier's book, "America Picturesque and Descriptive," by the secretary, Mrs. Edward J. Packham. Views of Philadelphia were also circulated. Light refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Alfred Ward.

Mrs. Abram A. Brown is assisting in caring for Mrs. Charles Peckham at "Orchard Hill," Wapping road, whose condition remains about the same.

The severe storm Wednesday evening caused a postponement until next week of the birthday party and entertainment to have been held in the Methodist Episcopal Church parlors under the auspices of the Ladies Aid.

Mrs. Martha Bliss will act as hostess at the Elephant Club at its weekly meeting.

At a business meeting of Holy Cross Guild it was voted to hold its annual Christmas sale December 3 and 4 at the guild house.

Newport County Pomona Grange is planning to meet this month with Little Compton Grange, after a recess during August and September. The lecturer, Mrs. William M. Hughes, will present a program entitled "Autumn."

NONE FOUND ALIVE.

All Hope of Rescuing 400 Miners Abandoned.

CARDIFF Wales, October 15.—All hope of rescuing more of the miners entombed in the Universal Colliery, where a great explosion occurred yesterday, has virtually been abandoned. The report that a party of 29 men had been found alive in one of the galleries has proved to be erroneous, but a large number of dead bodies were encountered today.

No official reports have been issued and this has caused much comment. Fire broke out anew this afternoon and is still raging. There are no further signs of life in the pit.

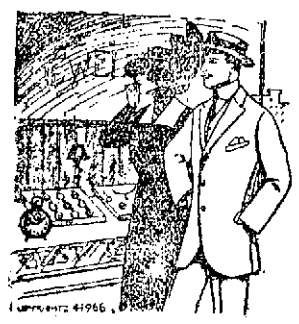

Up to a late hour tonight 49 bodies had been recovered, while 368 miners were still entombed. The shift which went into the mine yesterday numbered 931.

The engineers have decided to devote their efforts to subduing the fire, as they believe it useless to persist in the attempt at rescue.

FAVORS SYNOD FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

One of the governing bodies— the House of Deputies of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America has voted at the triennial general convention of the church to group the dioceses into provinces or synods, eight in number, after the custom that prevails in England. To become effective this proposed legislation must receive the concurrence of the House of Bishops

Urgent protests against the change were uttered on the floor of the convention. If the canon is enacted as proposed each group of dioceses and missions will have its own provincial council. Any diocese would have the privilege of remaining out of the province to which it is assigned, but it is not considered likely that any province would take such a step.

BELL'S SEASONING

Don't Experiment, Don't Guess. Use BELL'S to Delicately Flavor Dressings for Meat, Game, Fish and Poultry. Flavors Dressings fit for the Gods.

MEAT SOUFFLE. Melt 1 tablespoon butter. Add 1 tablespoon flour. Pour on, stirring constantly, 1 cup scalded milk. Add ½ cup soft stale bread crumbs. Cook 2 minutes. Add ½ cup chopped cooked chicken, turkey or duck, ½ teaspoon Bell's Seasoning, ½ teaspoon salt. Add well beaten yolks 2 eggs. Cut and fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Bake in buttered pudding-dish in slow oven 25 minutes. Serve with or without sauce.

DELICIOUS HOME MADE SAUSAGE. To each pound of fresh, lean pork, add 2 level tablespoons of Bell's Poultry Seasoning and 1½ even teaspoons salt. Sprinkle over the meat, cut fine, thoroughly mix to a stiff dough, then make into cakes and fry.

J. Fred Harvey, Manager Hotel Bellevue, Montreal, writes, "Have used your Seasoning in all my Hotels for the past eighteen years."

REMEMBER, 10c can Bell's Poultry Seasoning is sufficient to flavor the dressing of 100 pounds meat or poultry, or the 25c. can, 300 pounds.

OPERETTA REPEATED.

"Cinderella in Flowerland" Again Presented by Girls of St. John's.

The Junior Auxiliary of St. John's Church repeated Wednesday evening the successful performance of the children's operetta, "Cinderella in Flowerland," the first presentation having been given several months ago. The entertainment was for the benefit of the music fund and in spite of the storm there was a good attendance and a considerable sum was raised.

The cast includes Marian Leary as Cinderella, Nellie Mumford and Aspasia Axiotes as the proud sisters, Edith Groff as the godmother, Dorothy Lyons as Bonnie Bee, Winifred Lyons and Dorothy Verriest as butterflies, Helen Axiotes as Robin Red and Raymond Devlin as Prince Sunshine. Rose Ladyman, Susan Gifford, Lillian Devlin, Lila Mumford, Sadie James, Marian Bailey, Gertrude Ramlose, Annabelle Jestings, Sarah Groff and Louisa Verriest represented Blossoms; Daisy Powers, Nita Weaver, Catherine Belger, Jennie Devlin, Irene Weaver and Charlotte Devlin, Sunbeams; Alfred Beeson, Frank James, Arthur Dunham, George Axiotes, Edwin Ollson and Gilbert Ramlose, Raindrops.

The operetta was given under the direction of Mrs. Julius Burdick, assisted by Miss Majel Parmenter. Mr. Raymond Parker gave several piano selections and Miss Beulah Friend was the accompanist. Home-made candy and cake were sold, the receipts therefrom adding materially to the fund.

"OTHERWISE PHYLLIS."

Delightful Story of a Young Girl and Her Family, by Meredith Nicholson.

"Otherwise Phyllis" is Meredith Nicholson's most recent book. Like "The Hoosier Chronicle," the scenes are laid in Indiana. A small college town, with its happenings humorous and tragic, is spread out for the delectation of the readers. It is a delightful book to read, wholesome and pleasant to the taste. Tragedy and comedy both have their part, the situations are unique and the character drawing is carefully and skillfully done.

Phyllis, about whom the whole book centres, is a breezy, unconventional girl. She is part young Amazon and part mischievous sprite. In one chapter she pummels a young man with her fists, in another she has all sorts of adventures. If anything happens in town she is usually on the spot. The part she plays in the affairs of Montgomery, especially her interest in Main street, makes an interesting tale.

Phil, for so she styles herself, feeling that Phyllis is "highfalutin," is something of a genius. She loves to write and her ventures in the literary field are usually successful because of her humor and originality. However, she is not the only character in the book who writes, for the little town is full of authors. Even the servants have their ambitions, for did not Aunt Josie's cook burn a pan of biscuits while trying to find a word to rhyme with Isaiah? This penchant for writing is described as "a kind of literary measles people have in Indiana."

Tom Kirkwood, Phil's father, is a man of literary tendencies, having been a college professor, but also a man of business, taking up law as a profession. A tragedy in his early married life robs him of energy and makes him indifferent to his work. He finally rouses himself and in the matter of the Sycamore Traction Company scandal compels the rascals to deliver over their stealings, and prevents the road from going into a receivership. His success makes a new man of him and he is on the verge of taking an important step which will change his and Phil's life when an unforeseen event prevents his happiness.

Nan and Rose Bartlett, Amzi Montgomery, Phil's uncle, and Phil's three aunts and their husbands, with the Holtons—Jack, Charles and Fred—all enter into Phil's life and help develop her. No one can help loving Amzi, with his assumed ferocity and his ejaculations of "Thunder" on every possible occasion. One more person should be added to this list, and that is Phil's mother. Lois Montgomery is responsible for the dramatic situations of the book. Her morals, her views of life, her principles of conduct, affect the lives of many besides her own. Why is it that authors invariably picture the woman who has done wrong as more lovable and attractive than her righteous and strait-laced sisters? Such at least is Lois Montgomery.

[Houghton Mifflin Company.]

GOVERNMENT ESTIMATES.

Appropriations to be Held Down to the Minimum by President Wilson.

Estimates of appropriations for the various departments of the government will be held down to the minimum to permit the administration to urge a big fund for anti-trust prosecution. This was made plain at the cabinet meeting Tuesday, when the estimates were briefly considered. Heretofore the estimates have been taken up by the whole cabinet, but President Wilson will discuss individually with the members the figures for their several departments. A general hint has been given, however, that the President desires an economical administration, and will scrutinize all estimates.

The three-battleship plan is bound to make inroads into the coveted economical record, but the President and the Secretary of the Navy have mapped out their program, and there are assurances from Democratic leaders in Congress that they will carry it through. The Senate is practically on record for three battleships, and with the new Democratic members in the House little difficulty is feared there. After this year two battleships annually will be the administration program.

NAVAL ORDERS AND MOVEMENTS.

The Navy Department announces the following orders to officers:

Ensign F. W. Scanland, detached from the North Dakota and ordered to the Alert.

Paymaster Charles Conrad, ordered to duty as pay officer of the navy yard Portsmouth N. H.

Chief Boatswain H. R. Brayton, detached from the Ranger and ordered to the Vestal.

The following movements of vessels are reported:

Arrived—Petrel at Puerto Plata, Des Moines at Guantanamo, Birmingham at Port-au-Prince, Yankton at Hampton Roads, Arethusa at Guantanamo; Panther, Patapsco, Patuxent and Potomac at Lynnhaven bay.

Sailed—Nashville from Puerto Plata for Santo Domingo City; Ozark, Caesar, C-1, C-2, C-3, C-4 and C-5, from Guacanayabo bay for Guantanamo; Prairie, from Newport News for Tompkinsville; Charleston and St. Louis, from Puget Sound for San Francisco.

HIBERNIANS' SOCIAL.

Songs, Dances and Talk on Irish Literature on Pleasing Program.

The first in a series of socials to be given during the autumn and winter by Division No. 2, Ancient Order of Hibernians, was held Wednesday evening in Southwick's hall, which in spite of the unpleasant weather was well attended by members of the division and friends. Among the guests were Rev. Edward A. Higney and Rev. John McLoughlin of St. Joseph's and Rev. George A. Hines of St. Mary's Church.

President Maurice Roche occupied the chair during the business session and turned over the meeting to Chairman Patrick J. Lyons of the entertainment committee, who presided during the social. The feature of the program was an address on Irish literature by Rev. Michael L. Ryan of St. Mary's Church. It was not so much an address as an interesting talk about the various styles of the literature of Ireland, dealing especially with the charming old fairy tales.

Then followed a number of songs and dances which kept the audience in good humor. Mr. Lyon sang two Irish songs, "The Song that Reaches Irish Hearts" and "The Wearing of the Green;" Miss Mollie Fogarty gave "As Long as the Shamrock Grows Green I will Love You" and danced an Irish jig, T. S. Bradley danced an Irish hornpipe, Michael Murphy sang "Killarney," Miss Mae Sullivan gave a vocal selection, Harry Wilson rendered a number of Irish airs on the violin and Master Joseph Fogarty sang "Killarney and You."

The committee in charge consisted of Patrick J. Lyons, John M. Lynch, James T. O'Connell, Michael Murphy and John J. Sullivan.

Beat to cream two tablespoonfuls of butter and two of sugar, add two well beaten eggs, one cupful of milk, one scant quart of flour, two teaspoonfuls baking powder and a pinch of salt; beat batter with egg whisk and pour into hot, well greased muffin pans. Bake in quick oven.

Fluffy Corn Starch Blanc Mange.

Scald one pint of milk in a double boiler. Mix together three scant level tablespoonfuls of corn starch, three tablespoonfuls granulated sugar and one-quarter teaspoonful of salt. Mix to a cream with cold milk, turn quickly into the hot milk and stir until smoothly thickened. Cover and cook for 45 minutes. Whip the whites of three eggs to a stiff, dry froth. Turn into the corn starch, stir and mix lightly for three minutes, add any desired flavoring and take from the fire. Turn into wetted molds and set aside until cold, then turn out and serve with custard sauce or cream and sugar. This dessert may be varied by adding the yolks of eggs three minutes before stirring in the beaten whites.

BATTERY PARK.

[W. T. Larned, in Pulitzer's Magazine.]

The ships come in, the ships come in,
From ev'ry foreign strand.
O, bricks of Babel! what a din
Assails the Promised Land,
When Turk and Tartar, Frank and Finn,
Proclaim themselves our next of kin.

O, welcome! welcome! aliens all.
Whate'er your race may be,
Polish or Persian, Greek or Gaul,
You seek for Liberty.
Behold! The Goddess, straight and tall,
Awaits you near the Battery wall.

What towns and temples, as of yore,
Abide your builders' toil;
What ample acres still implore
Your sons to stir the soil.
And yet as you have done before,
You'll linger on Manhattan's shore.

FANCIES.

Tommy—Say, mamma, I'm playin' there's a little boy callin' on me, an' I'd like a piece of cake for him.—[Puck.

AUTOCRACY IN A REPUBLIC.

Of course we shall never have a man like Huerta in our Presidency and this is not a country in which any man can look to Congress, proclaim himself a dictator and issue his decrees instead of laws. Yet there is a considerable element of autocracy in some of our Presidents, and there is not unmistakable response to it in public opinion.

The people are much more interested in the President than they are in Congress. When the President and Congress are at odds the people are pretty generally on the side of the former. Under the theory of our constitution they ought not to be. We are supposed to be the foremost republicans in the world and there is no denying that the President represents the monarchical element in government. The founders of our nation copied the British government as nearly as possible and gave the President the powers which they had been accustomed to see "royality" exercise. They limited his power so that he should not be able to do what George III did, but still they made him a king for four years. In several instances he has developed a great deal more power than they supposed they were giving him. Royal as was the model on which they constructed the office.

We had a good deal of autocracy in Theodore Roosevelt, who has often insisted on action which he took without authority from Congress, and he managed to apply a pressure which secured some action which he would not have gained otherwise. President Wilson is developing an element of autocracy far beyond even that of the original of the Rough Riders. Instead of confining himself to his constitutional function of recommending to Congress and approving or disapproving bills, he has bills drawn and introduced and uses the very extensive influence, not to say power, of his office to force them through Congress. He is too humane to be a Huerta. Congressmen are in no bodily danger from him, but he resents Congressional opposition just as Huerta does and uses the powers of his office, which are wider than one would imagine from reading the constitution, to make them pass bills which they are not in favor but which he thinks the country needs. We are having more than a mere flavor of autocracy.

OIL IN STORMS.

There is a general impression that the use of oil in storms to prevent the breaking of waves is a discovery of the past 25 years or so. It is only within that period that the maritime world generally has paid any attention to it, but it is an astonishing fact that a use very of the greatest value to life and property, which was made many centuries ago and rediscovered by the most famous man of science of a century and a half ago, is almost unused until within our own time.

Benjamin Franklin learned 150 or 175 years ago of the use of oil and wrote about it. He was not then at the height of his fame but was tolerably well known, what he said was likely to be noticed in this country and his name was beginning to be known in Europe. Yet no attention whatever seems to have been paid to the publicity which he gave to the information given to him by a mariner. Furthermore, this discovery was then a very old one, for he learned that there was a record of the use of oil in storms by the ancient Latin or Greek of some locality. Apparently it never became general, but a record was made of it, which the world, as stupid in that as in regard to some other great ideas, completely disregarded and forgot.

It was not in general use among the ancients; it was used in some one port or colony, and outside of that no notice was taken of it. When it was re-discovered by chance and disclosed to Franklin, who was insatiable in his curiosity regarding natural science, he gave it some publicity, but thereafter made no reference to it. When the idea of the steamboat was submitted to him his age may explain his failure to become interested, but he was in his prime when he heard of the use of oil and was interested and wrote something about it. Then he dropped the subject and no one else picked it up, and the discovery slumbered another century or more before it was taken up. It is not now in anything like universal use, but has been employed on many occasions, and occasionally a vessel leaves port with appliances for using oil.

FEAR OF INHERITING DISEASE.

Many people go through life burdened with the fear of what may happen to them, through their knowledge of the sins or omissions of their ancestors. They are constantly fighting against inherited tendencies, which they feel sure will descend to them or their children, no matter what they may do to prevent it. This is a constant source of worry to them and they are ever on the watch for symptoms of disease or weakness which they feel may come to them as a legacy from parents or grandparents. Indeed, they are so filled with the anticipation that many times they force the dreaded issue, by doing the things which they should determine not to do, however great their fear of this inheritance.

In these days of scientific investigation all persons believe more or less that heredity does count tremendously for good or ill and the tendency of modern life is to consider it carefully and view it from all points, but this ought not to mean making such knowledge a bugbear and a source of constant fretting, as many people do and as was done by many more when the study of this subject was first taken up by men of science. It is only a comparatively few years ago that many thought that if they came of a consumptive family they should, metaphorically speaking, make their wills early and decide that their lives of necessity must be short; or, if there were other diseases in their ancestral record they never felt safe from them, but were sure that they would recur and some of the members would inherit them and suffer the consequences.

Now it has been found that no disease or taint is of necessity hereditary, but simply the tendency, which of course is entirely different. People who have this constant fear of inheriting some incurable malady or unpleasant weakness are learning—and it is well that they are—that by putting up a strong fight for a clean and healthy life, by living in a sensible and simple manner, by refusing to worry over the little things which are constantly springing up in every-day experience, and by keeping themselves and their families in a cheerful and happy frame of mind, they are doing much to ward off inheritance and find that there is very little danger that they will ever encounter the things which they so dread.

Of course it is well to be careful when it is known that there are diseases which have proved fatal in more than one generation of a family, and one cannot be too watchful over each member of the household and try to live so that they may escape these things. Yet by regulating the life from the standpoint of common sense, by taking constant care of the health and by resolving above all to keep well at all costs, no matter how many sacrifices one must make to do so, the man, woman or child who lives as normally as to keep in good physical condition has little to fear from what his ancestors have handed down in the way of disease. It is a good thing to remember that, no matter what the inheritance, it is not wise to give up the whole life to worrying over unpleasant possibilities, since with a little precaution these tendencies can be as far removed in most cases as if they had never existed. If people try to make and keep their lives clean and healthy, and give as little thought as possible to what happened to their ancestors, it is pretty safe to predict that the troubles of their progenitors will rarely descend to their own generation.

The crisis in the relations between Mexico and the United States, though not yet reached, is generally believed to be a matter of only a few days. Its outcome, however, from Mexico's forbidding, however, from Mexico's former action, it would not be surprising if that country should return to a more conciliatory attitude. The impression which is gaining ground that other nations are inclined to fall in line with the Washington administration in the matter of future policy, it is argued, may tend to cause the Mexican officials to seek some ground upon which they can with dignity meet the United States half way. It is acknowledged, moreover, that the accomplishment of this will be more difficult now than formerly.

Former Senator Nelson W. Aldrich denounces the currency bill before Congress as unsound, socialistic and revolutionary, characterizing it as an endeavor to secure, by partisan legislation, the triumph of doctrines and principles which had received the repeated condemnation of the American people at the polls. He says the bill is full of Bryan's ideas and if enacted into law Bryan will have received the purpose for which he has been contending for a decade.

The pottery industry is the first to feel the effects of the new tariff law. The employes throughout the country have asked for an increase of wages, but the manufacturers say they cannot give more pay because Congress has reduced the duty and they must meet the competition of foreign potteries. This result is not unexpected, and will undoubtedly develop in other industries affected by the new tariff rates.

Politicians like other people, must be on time. Because of failure to file nomination papers within the time prescribed by law, the Progressives of Maryland will not have candidates on the official ballots for the election next month. The Labor party is also ruled off for a similar reason.

President Wilson is evidently to give home rule to the Filipinos. His selection of four natives of the islands as members of the Philippines commission is regarded as the first move in the working out of the administration's policy of self-government and ultimate independence.

The northeaster is certainly an unqualified success. It is now fully two weeks since the spell of weather started, during which there has not been one entirely pleasant day.

The marriage of Prince Arthur of Connaught and Princess Alexandra Victoria, Duchess of Fife, is another of those royal family affairs in Europe.

The announcement that Pitcher Tesreau of the New York Giants is to be married seems to put him in the home run class.

RAILROADS DEFENDED.

President of Baltimore & Ohio Believes in Fairer Stand by the Public.

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railway Company, in an open letter expresses the belief that the public generally is coming to have a better understanding of the railroads' viewpoint on economic conditions. Mr. Willard, who is chairman of the committee representing the Eastern railroads in their efforts to obtain an advance in freight rates, says that railroad rates in this country are upon the whole the lowest in the world, and that railway capitalization, which has been so frequently criticised in the past, is much less than in European countries. According to Mr. Willard, it is also understood better than formerly that railway labor in this country is paid from two or three times as much as labor similarly employed upon European railways.

"The above matters," adds the head of the Baltimore & Ohio, "are all of public record, and it can at least be said for the railroads that, however badly some of them may have been managed at some time in the past, they are, upon the whole, giving cheaper service and paying more wages than is the case in any other country of the world. The railroad managers, I know, would be glad to give still better service and to furnish better and more ample facilities if they were able to do so.

"But railroads, in one respect at least, are like all other industrial concerns—they cannot pay out money which they do not have and they cannot maintain their credit unless they pay their debts. They cannot go on indefinitely receiving less for what they do and paying constantly more and more for what they buy. Such has been the case, however, for several years past, and it has resulted in bringing about the practical stoppage of railway construction and development, which exists at the present time."

THE "USELESS" BUT COSTLY HORSE.

[New York World]

The horse has lost another job. One hundred new automobile mail trucks have ousted him completely from the employ of Uncle Sam's postoffice department in New York.

He has, however, one consolation. For years everybody has seen that "man's noble friend" is out of it when it comes to a showdown with man's internal combustion engine. Everybody knows that there is more efficiency in gasoline than in oats. Even rural roads are no longer built for horses, and the farmer skims over the country in an automobile and teams his garden truck to market by the same up-to-date means. But the singular fact is that as the horse becomes more superfluous he gets more expensive. So far from being a drug on the market at cut prices, he costs more than ever.

Surely he has not had time to disappear to an extent that would account for his present scarcity and high price. He is still, after all, only retiring. But one of the mysteries of his retirement is the extraordinary way in which he manages to boost his market price.

AROUND RHODE I SLA

Gift of Modern Public Library to the East Greenwich Association.

Chief of Police Boston of Woonsocket Retired—Superintendent Holmes of Westerly Resigns.

A new public library of modern design and equipment is to be erected and given to the East Greenwich Free Library Association by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Peirce of that town. The new structure, plans for which are now being drawn, is to be located on Peirce, Church and Armory streets, on a side hill nearly opposite St. Luke's Church. In selecting the material for the building, granite was chosen in order to harmonize with the construction of the church. The site has a frontage of 134 feet on Peirce street and is 120 feet deep. Its boundary upon three streets is considered one of the best locations in the town. Mr. Peirce has long been actively identified with the Library Association of his native town and for many years has served as trustee. For the past 20 years he has been treasure of the library. The growth of the East Greenwich Library has been steady, and it now has more than 10,000 volumes. The present quarters have been over-crowded for some time and the increase in the demand for reading facilities prompted Mr. Peirce to consider plans for a new building. He obtained the land and an outline of a well appointed structure and placed the proposition before the library trustees. It met with the unanimous approval of the association and now the work is to be carried to completion.

The Woonsocket police commission has voted to retire Chief of Police Lowell J. Boston, who has seen 38 years of service, on pension. He will receive $540 annually, which is 40 per cent of the $1,350 salary. The commission has elected Sergeant Fred E. Coe chief of police, and made the appointment effective at once. Former Chief Boston has been a member of the Woonsocket police since 1880 and chief since 1906. The new head of the force was born in Woonsocket September 27, 1881, and has been a member of the permanent force since January 30, 1912, and sergeant since April 13 of this year.

Dr. William H. Holmes, for the past 10 years superintendent of schools of Westerly, has resigned to take effect November 1, to become superintendent of schools in Mt. Vernon, N. Y., at a salary of $3,600. Dr. Holmes was educated in the public schools of Augusta, Maine, the Corey high school of Augusta, at Colby and at New York University. He taught in ungraded schools for a year, when he was elected supervising principal of the Israel Putnam school in Putnam, Conn. He went to Westerly in 1903 as supervisor of schools. He was a member of the board of examiners of the Rhode Island State Normal School and president of the Rhode Island Institute of Instruction, and also a vice president of the Barnard Club.

Reports of an encouraging nature, showing that the society is making satisfactory progress, were read at the one hundredth annual meeting of the Rhode Island Bible Society. The annual election of officers, which was scheduled to take place, was not held, and instead a nominating committee was appointed with power to suggest officers. The report of the treasurer showed that during the past year the receipts amounted to $1866.03, while the expenditures totalled $1799.94, leaving a balance on hand of $88.09. During the year ending September 30 the society disposed of 3283 copies of the Bible and portions thereof. These were in 12 different languages, including English, Italian, Portuguese, French, Arabic, German, Polish, Spanish, Bulgarian, Swedish, Armenian and Hebrew. The report of the society's agent, Willard M. Wilson, showed that particular attention is being paid to the immigrants on the Fabre Line steamers and that still greater efforts are to be made in this direction.

Sir Walter Raleigh, since 1904 professor of English literature at Oxford University, will give four lectures on "Chaucer" at Brown University in 1914-15. He is the author of many works on Milton, Wordsworth, Shakespeare and the English novel. Edward Alexander Westermarck, professor of sociology in the University of London, will also give four lectures. He is considered the foremost living authority in the field of his special studies. Among American scholars who will lecture at Brown are Professor Paul Shorey of the University of Chicago, Professor Frank W. Taussig of Harvard University and Dr. J. Franklin Jameson of the Carnegie Institution at Washington.

Franklin R. Moses, well known in Providence, where he made his home for several years, died suddenly of pneumonia last Monday at St. Michael, Alaska, to which place he moved in 1898, at the time of the Klondike gold strike. During the time Mr. Moses had been in Alaska he devoted much of his time to educational work. He is particularly remembered in Providence as the result of a visit two years ago, when he brought back several Esquimaux children for the purpose of placing them in some good school of the United States. Mr. Moses was the son of Franklin and Florence Moses, and was born in New York August 7, 1874, removing to Providence in his early years.

After falling 27 feet with but one brief stop on route, from a second-story window to a paved alley, Joseph Miller of North Salem, Vt., was awakened by a hotel night clerk, of whom he asked "Whats the matter?" It happened at the Hopkins Hotel, Providence. Shortly before Miller was seized with nightmare. He hopped out of bed, apparently rushed to the window and jumped, taking glass, sash and all with him. His first descension was 15 feet. He landed on a tin roof, bounced from this and fell 12 feet more to the paved alleyway. Edward Mitchell, night clerk, heard a noise and found Miller lying in a heap. He shook him and awakened him. Miller was asked to stand up and look himself over. He did so and found he was not even scratched.

DIVING FOR GOLD.

Two million dollars in gold, which went to the bottom of San Francisco bay with steamer Rio de Janeiro in 1901, is to be the quest of a German inventor, who has a diving apparatus which he claims will enable him to reach a depth of 600 feet. He tested his device at San Francisco, going to the bottom of the bay in more than 100 feet of water, and remaining down an hour. It is said the greatest depth previously reached by a diver was 92 feet.

THE WEATHER.

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—Forecast for Boston and vicinity—Cloudy, with occasional rain tonight and probably Friday; brisk to high northerly winds.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Forecast for southern New England—Overcast tonight and Friday; probably rain on east coast; brisk and probably high northeast winds.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Forecast for northern New England—Overcast tonight and Friday; probably rain; brisk and high northeast winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The storm which was central off Nantucket Wednesday morning failed to pass off and conditions are practically unchanged in New England. North and northeast winds still prevail along the coast, and rain continues along the coast north and east of New York city. It is clear in the Middle and South Atlantic states, but there is considerable cloudiness in the Lake region and in the West. The barometer is above the normal in the Southeast. The temperature is near the seasonal average along the Atlantic slope, somewhat above the normal in the lower Lake region and the Ohio valley and rather low in the Northwest and the Rocky mountains. In New York at 8 a. m. the temperature was 54, Boston 55, Washington 54, New Orleans 70, St. Louis 60, Chicago 54, Des Moines 44, Kansas City 44, Denver 32, San Francisco and Portland, Oregon, 44.

STORM WARNING.

The local displayman this morning received from the Weather Bureau in Washington the following special bulletin:

Continue northeast storm warning 10 a. m. Disturbance off Cape Cod. Brisk and probably high northeast and north winds.

NO CASES FOR TRIAL.

Superior Court Makes Some Assignments and Adjourns to Monday.

The superior court opened at 9:37 this morning, Judge Brown presiding.

William P. Smith vs. John A. Hathaway was at once called for trial and the following jurors were called: August Litchfeldt, Tiverton; Stephen Gamez, Newport; John T. B. Peckham, Middletown; Winfield S. Dodge, New Shoreham; John Power, Fred A. Perkins, Daniel C. Pickett, Newport; Lincoln H. Sisson, Middletown; John Pearson, Jr., Newport; Aaron R. Richardson, Jamestown; Rowland S. Langley, William B. Caswell, Newport.

Mr. Burdick explained that it was a Tiverton case to recover wages. There were no challenges or excuses. Mr. Caswell was appointed foreman.

Then the calendar was gone over and various cases were passed or reassigned.

New England Iron Works Company vs. Newport Foundry and Machine Company was assigned to follow cases already assigned for the December session.

Paul Chase vs. Rachael H. Cram was found not to be a jury trial, and was passed.

John P. Friiz vs. Ainsworth B. Cochrane was re-assigned to October 23, as an accommodation to Mr. Levy, who is still convalescing.

There being no jury case for Friday, spare jurors were excused to Monday at 11:15.

Smith vs. Hathaway was then resumed, plaintiff taking the stand and proving his claim. Mr. Harvey appeared for defendant, but made no contest. Plaintiff's original claim was for $436.86, but a payment had reduced the bill to $178. By direction of the court a verdict for the latter amount was returned by the jury without leaving the box. The jurors were excused until Monday.

In Newport National Bank vs. James A. Greene et al, defendant Greene submitted to judgment. Other defendants not appearing, it became necessary to prove the claim and Henry C. Stevens, Jr., was called to the stand. He identified a note of the Arctic Ice Company, on which interest had been paid up to December 28, 1912. There is now due $2516.10, and judgment was given for that amount. The defendants are endorsers and it is understood that the Arctic Ice Company is good for about 10 per cent.

No sooner were the jurors excused than Mr. Coamplin appeared, desiring trial of the Block Island probate appeal of Swanson vs. Mott. He admitted that his office was at fault. Judge Burke said he had his witnesses here to try the case last June and Mr. Champlin obtained a continuance. It was re-assigned for this session, and repeated letters to C. E. Champlin were ignored. Again witnesses were here this session, and the other side was not present and was defaulted; in fact, that side had never even entered its appearance.

The court demanded some reason for failure to give attention to the assignment of the case for trial this session. Mr. Champlin had an excuse, referring to the Put-in-Bay trip.

Judge Burke explained that Mrs. Swanson is the widow and that, with counsel, she went to the probate court and asked to be appointed administratrix and was denied.

The court refused to set aside the default until good reasons were shown. He wished to know if there is a good ground why the widow should not be appointed administratrix, and finally denied the motion to remove the default. This leaves in force this court's order to the probate court to Block Island, to appoint Mrs. Swanson administratrix.

Messrs. Levy and Harvey entered an agreement as to allowance in a new divorce case of Clara T. Peterson vs. Frank E. Peterson, the figures being $5 a week and $35 for counsel and witnesses.

Mr. Levy has also been given an execution in the Hartzell case for $205, non-satisfaction of which will mean jail.

The court adjourned to Monday at 11:15.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

"War Correspondents" a Good Melodrama in Up-to-the-Minute Setting.

"War Correspondents," one of the finest prices of film work ever produced, to be seen at the Opera House, has the merit of being a good melodrama in an up-to-the-minute setting. It deals with the Balkan war, and it said to be accurate to the point of being instructive. It tells the story of a modern war, with its high-power guns, submarine mines, aeroplanes and wireless. The bleak mountains of the Balkan states, the character of the people and of the Turks, are well presented. The extraordinary scenes, which include the destruction of a bridge, and the destruction of a aeroplane by a well directed shot from a high-power field gun, are excellent. There are a succession of thrilling events which combine to give incessant action.

"In the wilds of Africa" shows numerous animals. The chimpanzee, elephant, lion and camels, together with several horses, make the picture appear as a zoo.

The "Newport Weekly," No. 4, showing Colonel Roosevelt at the Training Station, includes the crowds on the island and the scenes at the Training Station on Navy day.

INSPECTING COMBINATION.

Robinson Operator Replacing Oiler and Looking Machine Over.

Mr. Willis, demonstrating and inspecting operator of the Robinson company, is in town today and Combination 1 is out of commission for a few hours. He is replacing the oiler on the machine with one which does not give quite so much flow, in accordance with the findings of the men at headquarters after they have run the machine a little while. He is also looking the machine over, for that occasional inspection which the company gives all the apparatus it puts out, thus assuring that it is kept in condition even if the company has received its pay for it. He finds that the men at headquarters are taking fine care of the machine. He came here from New Bedford, where he has just delivered a big Robinson triple combination.

THE HARBOR TORPEDO NET.

The proposed torpedo net at the south end of the harbor will be so located as not to interfere with the boatmen. It will be placed in such a way as not to block the entrance to their moorings of the several small boats which summer in that part of the harbor. The shooting will be about direct for the Lime Rocks, and the net will prevent the torpedoes from being damaged by striking the rocks. There was a chance to shoot so as to land on the beach, but this might lead to trouble, so the range was placed so as to be almost entirely out of the course of boats and unobjectionable to yachtsmen.

ONE SEAMAN LOST.

Fishing Schooner Mary Emma Leaking Badly But Going to New Bedford.

Fishing schooner Mary Emma arrived at Pinniger & Manchester's wharf in distress this morning. Captain Hans Swensen reports that Seaman Olaf Swensen was swept overboard and lost Tuesday night off Nantucket shoals. It was a wild night, with seas mountain high, and about 600 craft of all kinds were seeking shelter.

The schooner is leaking badly, but Captain Swenson declared to a reporter that he was in a hurry to leave for New London, to be hauled out on the dry dock, and he thought pumps would succeed in keeping the vessel afloat.

FROM BAD TO WORSE.

Weather Unimproved by Change in Moon—Storm Affects Navigation.

The hunters' moon filled according to the almanac early Wednesday morning, and according to all traditions the weather should have changed. It did. Instead of stopping raining shortly after 7 p. m., as usual, having "ducked" the store clerks going home, the rain continued through most of the night and it was still raining this morning. The change was from bad to worse.

The weather man has at length "caught on" to the fact that it is raining in this section and predicts rain on the east coast. This is the only redeeming feature in sight. The weather man has been so far off lately that there are hopes he is again wrong. It stopped raining soon after noon today, perhaps for good.

The rainfall from 6 Wednesday morning to the same hour this morning was .93 of an inch, making a total this month of 5.15 inches.

The storm still makes it unfit for much navigation and tugs and schooners remain in port. Two yachts arrived this morning, steam yacht Hesperus and schooner yacht Elsie. One of them has been a week on the way from Gloucester.

Outdoor work is generally suspended.

ARGENTINE BEEF USABLE.

Imported Meat Will Not be Barred From Naval Station.

So far as can be learned no Argentine beef has yet reached Newport, but if it comes it will not be barred from the ships and stations of the navy if the contractors are disposed to supply it, it is understood. A local paymaster stated today that under the law providing for its admission it must pass inspection of the Bureau of Agriculture, and if the stamp of that inspection is on the imported beef he does not see that there will be anything to do when it is offered other than to see that it otherwise comes up to the standard set by the Navy Department for its supply. Large quantities of beef come into Newport for consumption in the navy.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. A. J. Bloor is visiting Mrs. E. J. Potter.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Horrocks have returned from their wedding trip.

—Quartermaster General Walker of Providence is in town today on business.

—Miss M. C. Morgan, who has been visiting at "Edna Villa," has gone to New York.

—Mr. John X. Kearins, who has been visiting in New York, has returned home.

—Mrs. Stuart Duncan closed her cottage Wednesday and returned to New York.

—Mr. W. W. Tompkins has closed his cottage and returned to New York this afternoon.

—Rear Admiral and Mrs. Brownson have closed their cottage and left for Washington this afternoon.

—The Adams Express had two cars out this afternoon for Washington with automobiles for E. B. McLean.

—Lieutenant Baron Horst von Lersner of the German embassy has returned to Newport to meet cruiser Hertha.

—Togged in their longshoreman clothes, the motion picture people have been waiting all day for the weather to clear, that they might continue the enacting of their story.

—Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Brackett have returned from the White Mountains. Mr. and Mrs. T. Jared Kauli are still in Jackson, N. H., Mrs. Kauli having greatly improved in health since she has been in the mountains.

—A Western Union telegraph gang has arrived for the purpose of setting a new pole just off Marlborough street as a terminal for their aerial wires into the city. From this pole to the office the line is underground, but the terminal accommodations have been a little questionable for some time.

—Invitations have been issued for an exhibition of art studies by the pupils of Miss Agnes Lodberg at her studio, Travers block, Bellevue avenue, Friday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons. After 4 o'clock tea is to be served, and Friday Miss Nannalie Willard and Miss Ruth Thomas will pour.

—The class of 1915 met today at the Rogers High School assembly hall to choose the class pin. The design selected was in the shape of a shield with the familiar numerals, the central part being filled by a large "R" on a blue border. President Arthur Sullivan presided at the meeting.

—Mr. Friel Davis, the inventor of several of the popular dances among the summer residents, this season, left for New York this afternoon. He will complete arrangements for the establishment of the Friel Davis Dancing Studio (Inc.), which is to be the medium for the standardization of modern dances, which Mr. Davis hopes to accomplish.

—A release from Fred W. Greene to the city of Newport for a right of way for a sewer from Bartlett court to Calvert street, has been filed for record at the city clerk's office. This will enable the street commissioner to put in the sewer needed in Bartlett court for less than the sum approved therefor. To connect through the court would have cost a great deal more.

JEALOUSY THE MOTIVE.

Prosecution Hints at Insanity in Opening the Eaton Trial.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 16.—The state's case against Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, on trial for the murder, by poison, of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton was announced today by the Assistant District Attorney Fred G. Katzmann, who said that jealousy furnished the motive for the crime. He admitted that the case against the prisoner was mostly circumstantial, but declared that the government had evidence strong enough to show that Admiral Eaton received from his wife the poison that caused his death.

The suggestion of insanity was introduced by the prosecutor when he told the jury if they should find that Mrs. Eaton killed her husband while laboring under hallucinations that constituted an irresistable impulse, the state would be satisfied with a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity.

Throughout the two hours that Mr. Katzmann was outlining the government's case, Mrs. Eaton appeared to be unmoved. Occasionally she passed a handkerchief across her eyes, but there was no trace of tears. Part of the time she rested her head on her hand, as though wearied, but generally she sat upright and gazed ahead of her.

The principal witness of the forenoon was Dr. Gilman T. Osgood of Rockland, who described his visit to the Eaton house soon after the admirals death.

Miss Dorothy Ainsworth, youngest daughter of Mrs. Eaton by her first marriage, arrived here yesterday, prepared to testify early in the trial. She was summoned by the prosecution and last night held a consultation with District Attorney Barker. Her sister, Mrs. June Keyes, planned to come here today.

"The prosecution contends and expects to show," said Assistant District Attorney Frod G. Katzmann, in opening for the government "that Admiral Eaton met his death at the hands of his wife, at his home in Assimppi, by the administration of poison to him. This poison was of the variety known as white arsenic. The commonwealth expects the jury to render a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, if the jury believes the prosecution has maintained its contention."

Subsequently the prosecutor added the qualification that a verdict of guilty must have to be returned," if the act is shown to have been committed by a rational being."

NO CHANGE IN MEXICO.

Officials Believe Huerta Will Not Answer Wilson's Note.

WASHINGTON, October 16.—The Mexican situation remained unchanged today and officials agreed generally in the view that Huerta would make no answer to President Wilson's latest note. The delicacy of the situation, however, was unaltered and the attitude of the Washington government was still a waiting one, with the United States in the attitude of a close observer.

QUEEN ELIZABETH LAUNCHED.

New Addition to British Navy Uses Oil for Motive Power.

PORTSMOUTH, England, Oct. 16.—A novelty in the way of battleships, the Queen Elizabeth, carrying on immense armament and using oil instead of coal for her motive power, was launched at the Royal navy dock yards here today for teh British navy. The new vessel, whose kel was laid October 21, 1912, is of an entirely fresh type and the details of her construction have been kept secret. It is generally believed, however, that her armament is to consist of ten 15-inch guns, mounted in pairs in barbettes, while her secondary armament of four-inch or six-inch guns is also to be placed behind protective armor. This is a big advance over the armament of her predecessors. Should the oil fuel in the case of the Queen Elizabeth prove successful, all large warships of the British navy will in future use it. The Queen Elizabeth is somewhat of an experiment.

PLEASED WITH HIS MISSION.

Ambassador Van Dyke Presents Credentials to Queen Wilhelmina.

THE HAGUE, Oct. 16.—Professor Henry Van Dyke, formerly of Princeton University, the new United States minister to the Netherlands, today presened his credentials to Queen Wilhelmina at the Palace of Het Loo. In an address, after expressing the complimentary wishes of President Wilson to the queen, Professor Van Dyke spoke of his own peculiar pleasure in taking up his mission.

CAUGHT IN THE GALE.

A Party of Young Men Have Trying Experience in Boston Harbor.

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—Tales of castaways on lonely islands have lost some of their romance for a party of young men who experienced the real thing in Boston harbor during this week's storm and gale. The men went in a power cruiser to their camp on Green Island Saturday night. The coming of the gale forced them to abandon attempts to return and at length the boat was driven on the rocks and sank. One of the men ventured out alone in a power dory and succeeded in reaching the city, where he notified the harbor police of the plight of his companions.

A police boat was sent down to the island yesterday and took off two of the men, who rowed out to her in a tender, but the tender was smashed against the side of the police boat. One man was left to spend another night on the island, with promise of rescue today. The adventurers said their stock of food had run low and they had been on short rations during the last day of their captivity.

MANY PRELATES EXPECTED.

Catholic Missionary Congress to Open Sunday in Boston.

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—Bishop Charles J. O'Reilly, of the diocese of Baker City, Oregon, who arrived here yesterday, is the first of more than 80 prelates expected to come to Boston to participate in the Catholic Missionary Congress, which opens Sunday in the Cathedral of the Holy Cross. Fully 500 priests and several thousand laymen will attend the congress, which is the second to be held by the Catholic Extension Society. Cardinal O'Connell of Boston will deliver the sermon.

Bishop O'Reilly is in charge of the largest see in the United States, covering a territory of 66,000 square miles, with churches widely scattered. "It is the only diocese in the United States," said the bishop, "that has not a mile of street railway tracks. The priests and the people make their distances on horseback."

SERVICE IN BAPTIST CHURCH.

Daughter of Chinese Consul at Seattle Weds Lew Geate Kay.

PORTLAND, Oregon, October 16.—With a $10,000 dowry and the most elaborate wedding ceremony of the season in Portland, Miss Rosalind Goon, daughter of Goon Dip, Chinese vice consul at Seattle, Wash., became the bride of Lew Geate Kay of Seattle. Floral decorations banked the walls and hid the ceiling of the large Baptist church in which the service was held.

Lew Geate Kay began his career as a newsboy. Later he attended a school in Seattle, was graduated from the University of Washington and became an instructor at an engineering school in China.

THE TWIN RIVERS OF MESOPOTAMIA.

[Christian Herald.]

In the mountains of Armenia, to the north of Bitlis and east of Lake Van, a little spring of pure cold water comes bubbling from the ground. A little pool is thus formed, and from the pool one tiny stream runs north, another south. Should you follow the streams as they trickle down the mountain sides, you would find that one of them becomes the Tigris, the other the Euphrates. Thus the two mighty rivers of Mesopotamia begin their long journey of 1,500 miles to the Persian gulf.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. T. I. Dwyer is spending his vacation in New York and Washington.

—Miss Florence Sanford is guest of Mrs. F. Baker Williams in Princeton, N. J.

—Mrs. Hollis H. Hunnewell is visiting her mother, Mrs. Frederic Neilson, at the Muenchinger-King.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Easton returned today from a 10 days automobile trip to New Hampshire and other places.

—Pay Director and Mrs. Livingston Hunt are occupying the Warren cottage on Old Beach road, which they have rented.

—High Sheriff Anthony is about his duties today, comfortable and with his accustomed smile. He says he is "fine and dandy".

—Mrs. H. Leroy Jones, who has been occupying the Berwind cottage, "Court End", on Bellevue court, left Wednesday for New York.

The work of placing the concrete foundations of the new power house and its chimney at the naval hospital, has been completed and it is hoped to be able to start the brick work next week.

—Mr. Joseph C. Coggeshall of Brooklyn, who had the market at the corner of Thames street and Washington square before his brother, Frederick B. Coggeshall took it, is in town for a few days.

—The continued northerly wind has finally caused Mr. L. Q. Jones to put his float out of commission. It is hauled out at the shipyard to save the elements the trouble of hauling it out on the beach or rocks.

—Mr. and Mrs. James McLeish will leave tonight for New York and Saturday morning take a steamer for Europe for a trip of about five or six weeks to Scotland. They expect to be back for Thanksgiving. It is many years since they have taken a trip across the ocean.

—The work on the Widener house has been rather slack of late, the weather and lack of stone contributing to this end. A supply of stone has arrived and as soon as the weather favors the work of setting stone will be continued. The first story has about been completed, so that the new structure makes quite a showing.

—The two men from the Commonwealth Wednesday pleaded guilty to the charges of assault preferred against them on account of some trouble on the steamer, paid their fines and were discharged. They saved the cost of a trial. Otherwise the arrest department of the city added nothing to the news of the day.

—Mr. Louis A. Boone, who for the past six years has been manger of the local Postal Telegraph office, has gone to New York with his family and is now located at the main office of the Postal in that city, where he will have a relief from managerial duties for a while. Manager Durgin, now in charge of the local office, comes at the quiet time, when he will have opportunity to become acquainted with the work and the people before the rush begins next summer.

FOLK AS SOLICITOR.

Rumor Has It That Former Governor May Step Into Bryan's Shoes.

Would-be Leaders Unwelcome—Marshall "Busts" Another Senatorial Tradition.

[Washington correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, October 15.—There was considerable surprise in political circles when Joseph W. Folk accepted the place of solicitor in the State Department. It is a good legal job, but the counselor is a higher legal place in the department, besides being designated to act as secretary when Mr. Bryan is absent. Perhaps the speculation as to why a man who had been governor of a great state and was making good money on the lecture platform should accept a subordinate place in the State Department caused the "understudy" talk that has been heard in Washington.

Only "sub rosa" and "under your hat" and such other methods of retailing secrets is it rumored that in case—in case, mind you—there should—ah, well, you know— something might happen, and if there should be a vacancy at the head of the cabinet it would be a good thing to have a man ready to step right in who was of cabinet size.

Governor Folk has taken right hold of the State Department work in a manner to show that he means business. He goes right along with various complex questions that are continually arising. He is much more of a politician than John Bassett Moore, the counselor, who is learned in international law and does not look at the questions coming before him with a political slant. Joe Folk was not only big enough to be governor of Missouri, but he was big enough to be considered as in the running for President.

A lot of men on the Democratic side recognize only one leader in the House. When anything relating to procedure in the House or a tariff matter is before the body no one undertakes to interfere with Oscar Underwood. He makes the motions and conducts the parliamentary contests.

Not so with other men. It has always been quasi conceded that a man in charge of a bill should be the leader for the time being. Chairman Fitzgerald considers himself responsible when appropriation bills are pending. But that does not prevent a lot of other men who would be leaders from breaking in and making the parliamentary motions that ordinarily would be left to Fitz. And Fitz doesn't like it.

For as many years as the government existed all appropriation bills carried the amount in words. For instance if there was an appropriation of $3,485.25 it would read three thousand four hundred and sixty-five dollars and twenty-five cents. Some one had sense enough a year or two ago to stop it, and all appropriations now appear in figures.

Secretary McAdoo of the Treasury Department has cut out the puzzling MCMXIII. method of dating the erection of public buildings and substituting plain 1913. In years to come the average person who sees these figures can tell when a building was erected.

All through the tariff debates it was noticed that sparring between Ollie James and Joe Bristow was frequent. Bristow is a native of Kentucky, but that did not bring him in close relationship with the big man from that state. Whenever James talked about sugar Bristow would come in with something about whiskey and tobacco. And then they would swat each other a few times and the contest would go over for another time.

As long as the oldest man about the capitol can remember it has been the custom of the presiding officer, be he Vice President or Senator, to reprove the galleries when any demonstration of approval or disapproval is manifested and to sternly admonish the occupants that such demonstrations are not permitted.

Not long ago, when there were laughter and applause in the galleries, Senator Warren told the Vice President that the rules did not permit such demonstrations.

"I have examined the rules," said Mr. Marshall "and I do not find any such provision."

And so another Senatorial tradition is "busted."

Quite a number of Congressmen who fail to answer to their names during the troublesome days of getting a quorum will have the excuse that they are out in the campaign. The contests in Maryland, Massachusetts and New Jersey, even in this "off year," are exciting quite a good deal of interest, for they are the signal guns of next year and 1916.

NEW ROAD PLANNED.

Upper Part of Moosehead Lake to be Made More Accessible.

SKOWHEGAN, Maine, Oct. 16.—The upper portion of Moosehead lake is to be made more accessible to tourists and sportsmen. At present automobiles and carriages can go only as far as Greenville, at the foot of the lake, and the 20-mile stretch to Kineo must be made by boat. This week engineers began a survey for a road which will run from Kineo to a point on the road connecting Skowhegan with the Canadian border, the roads joining half way between Lake Parlin and the west forks of the Kennebec river. The new road, which will be about 25 miles long, will run through the forest for the entire distance.

DECREASE FROM LAST YEAR.

Falling Off in Registration for State Election Seen in Boston.

BOSTON, October 16.—A decrease of 2,795 in the registration for the state election from that of last year is shown in the Boston voting list. Registration closed last night. This year there are 109,458 registered voters in the city.

DATE SET FOR NOVEMBER 9.

American League to Meet Then for Convenience of World Tourists.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The annual meeting of the American League will be held in this city November 6, President B. B. Johnson announced last night. This early date has been chosen for the convenience of President Comiskey of the local club and President McAleer of the Boston club, who will accompany the White Sox and Giants on their world tour.

MAKES RAPID HEADWAY.

Add This Fact to Your Store of Knowledge.

Kidney disease often advances so rapidly that many persons is firmly in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptom of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headaches, dizzy spells or a tired, worn-out feeling, or if the kidney secretions are offensive, iregular and attended by pain, procure a good kidney remedy at once.

Your townspeople recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the statement of this Newport citizen.

Mrs. G. C. Shaw, Jr., 29 Poplar St., Newport, R. I., says: "I have noticed the good effects from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills in my family. One of the family had weak kidneys and severe attacks of backache. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills relieved the aches and pains in his back and fixed his kidneys up in good shape. We now keep Doan's Kidney Pills in the house."

TWO MORE COAL BARGES ADDED TO WRECK LIST.

easter typical of early winter rather than mid-autumn, for the gale brought with it rain, sleet and snow, and, on Cape Cod, a stiff sand blast. The storm was apparently located by the weather experts Tuesday forenoon as well out to sea, but the centre was placed somewhere between Cape Cod and Sable Island. Under ordinary conditions the storm would have moved along to the northeast, with the wind backing to the northwest on the New England coast as the centre neared the Grand Banks. The weather actually cleared a bit on Cape Cod, and the wind backed a trifle west of north late Tuesday, but at midnight it was again northeast and the weather became thick.

It became apparent Wednesday that the storm centre, instead of being off Nova Scotia, was not many miles from Cape Cod and that it was practically stationary. The storm at 8 o'clock today was still off the Cape, with the lowest barometer, 29.66, at Nantucket, and the highest wind velocity, a mile a minute, at Highland Light.

The storm broke on the full of the so-called hunter's moon, with a high course of tide, but the local water front was not seriously affected, as the wind in Boston during the storm was a trifle west of north. On Cape Cod, however, and especially inside the bay on the Sandwich and Barnstable shores, the tide today was very high. Following 10 days of dull, thick weather, with some rain, the storm added many hours to the cloudy weather record in Boston for October 1913.

WILSON SUMMONS SENATORS.

Confers on Currency Legislation at Present Session of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—President Wilson today sent for Senators Hitchcock Read, and O'Gorman, the three Democrats of the Senate banking committee who have been regarded as opposed to the administration program for currency legislation at the present session of Congress. The President saw the Senators separately and conferred at length with them.

"The President feels," said Senator Hitchcock afterwards, "that to let the currency bill go over into the next sesion would seriously interfere with other parts of the administration program.

The Nebraskan Senator was asked if he saw any prospects for passing the bill during the present session.

"Not yet," he replied.

SEVERAL MEN INJURED.

Union and Non-Union Street Railway Employes Meet in Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 16.—One man was shot and probably fatally wounded, another was seriously hurt, when struck on the head with a stone, and 14 others were arrested, the result of a fierce fight in the heart of the business district here last night between union and non-union street railway employes. All the police reserves were called out and were unable to quell the riot for more than an hour. Of the men arrested, 12 were wounded.

For several months attempts have been made to unionize employes of the traction lines centering in Indianapolis and numerous fights between the union and non-union men have resulted. The union men held a meeting last night and afterwards marched through the business district. Arriving at the centre of the district they met non-union men and a few words started the fight.

CIRCLED SPOT OF DISASTER.

No Sign of the Hulk of the Volturno Seen by the Cymric.

LIVERPOOL, October 16.—No sign of the direlict hulk of the Volturno was seen by the Cymric on her voyage across the Atlantic. She arrived here today and her commander reported that she had made a circular cruise around the spot where the Volturno had been abandoned, without sighting that vessel or any wreckage.

NEWPORT CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION
FOR SAVING and BUILDING.
260 Thames Street.

It is surprising with how small an amount of money a person can not only form the habit of saving, but also create an account of considerable size. If membership is taken in this Association and payments continued for only a comparatively short time the result is often surprising. A member by the payment of only about one dollar a week can secure five shares and have to his credit, almost before he realizes it, several hundred dollars. When the shares "mature" they will be worth $1,000 or more. Of this sum $730 will represent his payments and $270 the interest on his deposits. This, remember, is the result of taking five shares only. If a larger number are taken the result will of course be in proportion. No one is allowed to own more than 20 shares.

FINANCIAL.

10:45 —After an indecisive movement at the opening today, the stock market became heavy and in some instances prices fell below the previous low marks for the present decline. Offerings were not heavy, and the market apparently was weakened more by the absence of demand than by direct pressure. Can common and preferred opened with gains of a point each. Reading Southern Pacific and Amalgamated were fractionally higher, while first prices of Union Pacific and Steel showed small losses. In the first few minutes the list turned downward definitely. Westinghouse and Union Bag preferred lost 2 points and Union Pacific Canadian Pacific, Atchison, Utah Copper and Woolworth 1, Atchison, at 91¼, and Canadian Pacific, at 224⅝, reached new low marks.

Noon —Speculative sentiment veered strongly to the selling side today. Opinion was especially bearish among the more important professional traders, who were heaviest sellers of Union Pacific, Reading and the Coppers. Holders of stocks were impressed by the continued absence of banking support, but reports that banks and trust companies were unloading holdings, because of dissatisfaction with financial, political and business conditions, met with denials. Further cuts in Steel products, the Mexican situation, and conjecture as to the effort of currency legislation had weight in depressing sentiment. Although trading became dull after the first hour, the market showed no ability to recover with any spirit. Weakness of minor issues indicated that weak spots were being sought out to force genuine liquidation. Bonds were heavy. Money on call, steady. Prime mercantile paper, 5½ to 6 per cent. Exchanges, $441,834,687; balances, $20,920,316.

MARRIAGES AT ST. MARY'S.

Four at Rectory in the Evening Follow Church Ceremony of Morning.

There were five marriages at St. Mary's Wednesday, one in the church in the morning and four at the rectory in the evening. The marriage in the morning was that of Miss Anna Theresa Walsh of New York to Mr. Edward A. Donahue of this city, reported in Wednesday's Daily News. Rev. Father Tierney was the officiating clergyman at this, and also at three in the evening, Father Ryan having the fourth.

One wedding in the evening was that of Miss Florence Theresa Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Moore of this city, to Mr. Harold Julius Mellee of Brooklyn. The attendants were Ella P. Mahan and Dennis Mahan.

Miss Anna Marie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Smith, was married to Mr. Thomas Southall of Worcester, Mass. Margaret E. Walsh and James W. Scannell accompanied the couple.

Miss May Catherine Downes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Downes, was married to Mr. John Clarke of this city, the attendants being Margaret Cooney and Samuel Clarke.

By the fourth ceremony Miss Rose Gabriel O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Brien, was married to Mr. Benjamin Harrison De Monbrun of Laclede, Mo. The attendants in this case were Katherine C. Schlicht and Herbert O. Schlicht.

The Clarke-Downes marriage was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Downes, on lower Thames street. The bride wore a tailored suit of blue with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her attendant, Miss Margaret Cooney, was in a tailored suit of brown and hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful presents, among which was a silver service from the clerks of the Bee Hive, where the bride was employed. The young couple will make their future home at Riverdale on the Hudson.

A MEMBERSHIP CONTEST.

Coronet Council to Push Campaign; Arcanum Trophy the Prize.

The members of Coronet Council, Royal Arcanum, have begun a membership contest, to run for two months, ending with the regular meeting December 12. Three committees have been appointed, one consisting of the past regents, one of the present officers and one of other members, to form a general committee which will have charge of the contest. This general committee has organized with the election of Past Regent J. Harry Brown as chairman and Past Regent Horace S. Brown as secretary. Plans for an energetic campaign for new members have been made and the work will be pushed. Grand Regent George W. Burgess will make his official visit to Coronet Council Friday, November 14, and it is expected to have a large class of candidates for initiation at that time.

The Council will give a supper to the committee if the campaign is successful and the member presenting the largest number of successful candidates will be given an Arcanum watch charm, pin or ring. There promises to be a lively competition for this trophy.

FEW STRIPED BASS.

Graves Point Fishing Club Has a Poor Season Due to the Scarcity.

The Graves Point Fishing Club has closed for the season, which has not been a very lively one, due to the scarcity of fish. Striped bass, which is the kind for which the amateur anglers look, have been unusually scarce; in fact, they may be said to have been absolutely absent this season and bluefish were the only game fish caught there. The same conditions seem to exist all along the coast, no striped bass having been taken at West Island, which once was a great place for these fish.

It seems a question, with the fishing falling away thus, if the club will be opened next year, but striped bass have been caught there, and if there are any in this section they can be caught there again. Still, a whole season with practically nothing caught is discouraging.

Mr. Eugene Tew, the fisherman at the club, this year completed his twenty-ninth year there. He began when a lad, with the late John Whipple, when the club was first opened, and has been on hand every season since.

PRACTICALLY THE FULL CLAIM.

Jury Gives Mr. Sanborn Verdict for $2990 in Damage Suit.

Arguments of Counsel and Charge of the Judge in Case Against New York Central Road.

The superior court resumed business at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Judge Brown presiding.

Mr. Shelfield finished his argument for defendant in the case of Sanborn vs. New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company. He claimed that Mr. Sanborn was not looking out as he should have been, when leaving the car; and that Mr. Mowry's testimony was disputed by that of other witnesses; also, that had the circumstances been as Mr. Sanborn said he would have gone down the bank. The road has brought every witness who had any connection with the matter.

Mr. Littlefield argued for plaintiff from 2:49. It is undisputed that the train extended beyond the platform. As usually happens, the employes of the railroad company flatly contradict the evidence for the injured party; their evidence must be closely scrutinized.

Mr. Sanborn says it was necessary to take the tickets to the others, in order that they might enter the Pullman car. He was justified in leaving the car; any man is, at any station. Because he knew changes were being made at the station it is not to be argued that he knew the condition of the ground on which he alighted. There is no evidence that there was anything that looked dangerous; it is even claimed that it was a good walk. The flagman disagrees with the other employes, and says it was a very dangerous place. It was, but it was not obvious, and no passenger would be required to know the danger.

The porter says he did not put down his stool, Mr. Sanborn cannot be mistaken, and Mr. Mowry, one of the most respected men in the state, saw the stool placed, and saw Mr. Sanborn step on it, pitch, stagger and fall. Can there be the slightest question which side is right? This is the nub of the case. To avoid this, it is claimed that Mr. Sanborn stumbled over a cinder.

It is claimed that Mr. Sanborn made certain statements. One of the liabilities in such cases is that language is twisted by railroad employes. He did not say what they claim; if he had done so, it would make no difference. He was almost at the point of fainting, with pain. Mr. Sanborn says the porter made no objection to his getting off, and his testimony that he did not make such statements is corroborated by Mrs. Sanborn and Senator Mowry. The efforts to bring this in prove the weakness of the railroad's defense.

There is no question that the injury was a serious one. The human wrist is a wonderful thing; it has made man to differ from the beasts. The use of the hand depends on the wrist. Mr. Sanborn can lift but cannot rotate his hand. The jury is to determine what damages to award (some $2,900 have been sued for). Would a man smash ligaments and break bones by simply stumbling over a cinder? There is no desire for vengeance; $2,975 is none too much.

The court charged the jury, from 3:36. Plaintiff believed the others would not be permitted to board the car without the tickets which he had for them. The defendant insists that it is not responsible for the accident. They say the porter told plaintiff not to leave the car, and that plaintiff had no business to alight there and must bear the consequences. The jury must determine the facts, from the testimony. Plaintiff must prove that he was in the exercise of due care or he cannot have the verdict; he must also prove that the defendant was negligent.

If plaintiff had a reason to leave the train he had a right to do so, and it was the duty of defendant to exercise the highest degree of care for the safety of passengers. If the door was opened and the stool placed plaintiff had a right to assume that it was safe to alight there. No passenger is required to stop and make an inspection. If he knew or should have known it was not safe to alight, he should not have done so. If not, and he believed he should reach the others with the tickets, and the train was to stop but a short time, he was within his rights. The testimony of the porter, etc., will be borne in mind.

There is testimony of statements made by Mr. Sanborn, and they are denied. If Mr. Sanborn was given warning not to alight he should not have alighted. Did the company discharge all its obligations?

If the verdict is for plaintiff, a sum compensating for suffering and for the impairment of use of the wrist will be awarded. Does the evidence show that the injury is permanent? Another element of damages is the expense. It has been suggested that he neglected the treatment of the wrist too long. One injured is under obligation to use proper diligence in being healed; the jury will consider all the circumstances. Plaintiff was chairman of the commission, and was on the way to Put-in-Bay, to make arrangements for the celebration. He claims that he could not well abandon the trip without causing great delay to the commission. He was gone six or seven days and had treatment on his return. Did he do all which could reasonably be expected of him?

In response to request of defendant, three points were charged; the fourth refused. Sympathy or prejudice must have no influence with the jurors. Passion, prejudice, pride, must have no influence. Which ever side is embittered to the verdict, do not hesitate to say so. That plaintiff is a leading citizen, and defendant a corporation, should have no bearing on the verdict.

Keeper Homes led out the jury at 4:06.

The calendar was then canvassed. William P. Smith vs. John A. Hathaway would be ready in the morning.

Benjamin H. Allen vs. Hiram F. Willis went over to December.

Wesley A. Gove vs. Island Coal Company was assigned for December 15.

Nathan David vs. J. K. Sullivan is continued to December.

At 5:15 the jury returned with a verdict for plaintiff for $2,990—practically the full amount of his claim.

The court at once adjourned to 9:30 Thursday morning.

A growing scarcity of willow, generally used for wooden shoes in Europe, is leading to an adoption of poplar.

THE MAYER FIRE IN PORTSMOUTH.

Just before all vestige of wood was consumed. Men still keeping the barn wet down.

THE MAYER HOUSE FIRE.

Insurance on Building and Contents Will Not Cover the Loss.

The burning of the Mayer house in Portsmouth will entail a severe loss on the family, for they were greatly attached to the place and by the recent alterations had developed a very pretty home. In addition, the insurance carried cannot be expected to make good the actual financial loss. The house was insured for $4,000 and this loss is total. On the contents there was but $500, an amount which does not go far in furnishing, to say nothing of clothing for a family of five. Some of the furniture was taken out, including a piano, but much of that saved was badly damaged, or came out as did the cook stove. The warming shelves and pipe were saved and the stove itself left. The contents of the second floor seem to have been about all destroyed.

The first suggestion that the house was on fire was when bits of plaster or other material began to fall in the walls. A hurried look to the attic showed that flames in considerable volume were coming from around the chimney and the members of the family began to catch up what they could, while a messenger was sent to the village to give the alarm. It was a fine piece of work that the residents of that locality did with pails, milk pails, coalhods and bread mixers, in throwing enough water on the barn, which was close by, to prevent the spread of the fire. The white paint is not even blackened, but many of the men who remained persistently in the narrow space, on ladders and on the roof, are suffering from blistered hands and faces. They could not have done a more effective job in saving the barn had they had a stream to play on the flames. The fact that they were able to place doors over the windows before the fire became too hot saved the structure.

The house was a story-and-a-half cottage, but had been kept in good repair and within two or three years Mr. Mayer had added a piazza and made other improvements. The town records show it as having belonged to Gideon Dennis, of whose heirs William Henry Faulkner purchased it and occupied it for many years, raising a large family of children there. Mr. Faulkner died in 1895 and Mr. Mayer purchased it of the heirs in 1902. It is taxed for $4,000, in connection with the 11 acres of land. Mr. and Mrs. Mayer with their daughters, Lily and Rosalie, and their son, Lloyd Edward, lived there a few years both summer and winter, the children attending a private school. Later, when Miss Rosalie entered Vassar College, they went to be near her, coming to Portsmouth only for the summer.

Mrs. Sarah K. Birkhead of "Eastover" on the Sakonnet shore is a cousin, and after storing the furniture saved in the barn they went to her house, in the heavily falling rain, in a friend's automobile, where for the present they will find refuge.

MOVING THE HOUSE BACK.

A Bigger Undertaking Than Job Done by the Steam Roller.

The work of repairs on the Atkinson house on Broadway, which was moved by the runaway steam roller Wednesday, was begun promptly. During the afternoon the building movers were engaged in putting their timbers underneath, preparatory to moving the structure back where it belongs. This is more of an undertaking than was the moving in the other direction and much of the foundation wall which was not broken down must be removed to permit the work, so that the wall will practically be entirely re-built.

It was the main chimney which went by the board, while the rear one is probably badly shaken. The strong frame of the house saved much damage, the shock being received on the sill which re-inforced by the floor beams caused the entire structure to slide on the foundations rather than permitting the side to be crushed in like an eggshell. The fence on Caleb Earl street was moved along bodily, so that the gate is now much too large for the opening.

THE PEACE PRIZE ESSAY CONTEST.

The members of the Senior History class at the Rogers High School have again been invited to enter the peace prize essay contest of the American School Peace League for 1914. Last year one of the seniors at the school entered the competition, which was won by a pupil of the Central High School in Washington, a pupil in a high school in Vienna, Austria, taking second prize, while a student from the Central High School of Scranton, Pa., was the winner of the third prize.

All Senior students in any high or normal school in the world are eligible to enter. Seventy-five dollars goes for the first prize, second prize takes with it $50, while the third is $25. It is hoped that Rogers may again be represented this year.

"THE QUAKER GIRL."

Most Widely Heralded Musical Comedy of Season Coming to Opera House.

Next Saturday will bring to the Opera House what has been the most widely heralded musical comedy of the current season. John P. Slocum by arrangement with the Henry B. Harris estate, will present "The Quaker Girl," with Victor Morley in the leading role. It comes here after a long run of success. Originally produced by George Edwards at the Gaiety Theatre, London, it enjoyed two years of prosperity at that famous home of musical comedy, and then the entire company was sent across the channel to France and played another year in Paris. The late Henry B. Harris was the fortunate American manager to secure the rights for this company and produced "The Quaker Girl" at the Park Theatre, New York, a year ago last October. The piece duplicated its foreign success and played the entire season to practically capacity business.

The part created by Ina Claire will be played by Bernice McCabe, a young English girl, who is said to be another "find," as was Miss Claire.

SHOOT MOOSE AND CARIBOU.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. McLean Good Hunters on Expedition in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. McLean, who have just returned to "Black-Point Farm" from a shooting expedition in Canada, will leave for New York early next week for the winter. Mrs. McLean proved a good hunter, bringing home an 1800-pound Moose, believed to be the largest ever brought out of Canada, while Mr. McLean shot two caribou which he also brought with him. There will be plenty of venison on the farm for the winter. The place where the shooting was done is called Penn Camp, and is several miles north of Quebec, about eight hours ride by rail.

Mr. McLean has not yet decided on a site for his new stock farm, but Messrs. J. Stewart Barney and Paul A. Andrews have already drawn plans to fit various locations. It is Mr. McLean's idea to purchase a large tract of land, either in Middletown or Portsmouth, and to develop it according to his own ideas.

NO NEW TYPHOID CASES.

Only One New Discovery Reported from the Up-State Party.

Another day has passed, with no new cases of typhoid in Newport. But one new discovery was made up the river Wednesday, the case of Representative Charles O. Millard of Cranston, who has been feeling poorly for several days. Lieutenant Howard K. Jackson, who is now employed in Boston, has been heard from; his physician says he has been suffering from a mild case of ptomaine poisoning but showed no typhoid symptoms. Some of the suspects up the river have been given a clean bill of health, though they showed a positive blood culture. This has been determined to be due to the fact that they had been inoculated.

A MARQUAND MEMORIAL.

To be Established by Rev. Dr. Terry for Former President of Redwood Library.

Present Big Stack Room to be Cleared, Re-Modelled and Decorated for the Purpose.

Extensive improvements, made possible by the erection of the Perry addition, are to be made at the Redwood Library, including the re-modelling of one of the large rooms as a memorial to Henry G. Marquand.

The Perry alcove was constructed from the bequest of $50,000 by the late Mrs. Gardner Blanchard Perry, $15,000 to be devoted to the erection of a suitable fire proof building and the income of the remainder to be applied to the purchase of books to be added to the Perry library, which contains 2500 volumes. The alcove contains stackroom for a large number of books and could not be filled from the Perry income for two or three hundred years. With the consent of the executors of Mrs. Perry's will, the directors have decided to remove all the books and stacks from the large hall in the rear of the main reading room and place them in the Perry alcove, putting up a second tier of stacks for these and such additions as may be made in the future.

The former stack room, which was constructed in 1894 and is 43 feet long, 36 feet wide and 30 feet high, will be re-modelled and decorated by Rev. Roderick Terry, D. D., as a memorial to his father-in-law, the late Henry G. Marquand, who was for a number of years president of the Redwood Library and during the latter part of his lifetime much interested in the institution. Just what Dr. Terry will do has not yet been made known, except that the large room is to be entirely cleared of its present books, provided with only a seven-foot case running around the walls, to contain volumes for ready reference, and generally fitted as a reading and reference room.

The removal of the stacks will give additional wall space for the library's large collection of oil paintings, and which it is hoped will all, with possibly a few exceptions, be placed in this room. This collection of paintings includes many portraits of men prominent in the early life of Newport and in the early part of the last century. They have never been adequately displayed, and for lack of room several valuable paintings offered to the library have gone elsewhere. It is also proposed to have lectures in this room, so that other functions of an athenaeum may be carried into effect.

The Perry alcove, which is a strongly built, well lighted and airy room with a basement equipped with electric light, will with the proposed additional floor for stacks accommodate many thousands of books.

The Redwood Library has an interesting history. It had its beginning in a private club in 1730, when prominent men of culture in Newport, established a literary and philosophical society. As its collections of books became larger there gradually developed the idea of forming an incorporated library. Abraham Redwood offered to give five hundred pounds sterling "for purchasing a library of all arts and sciences put under the most prudent limitations and restrictions; whereunto the impatient enquirer after resolution of doubts, and the bewildered ignorant, might freely repair for discovery and demonstration to the one, and true knowledge and satisfaction to the other," as the quaint phraseology of the day expressed it, provided a suitable building was provided to hold the books.

To this end five thousand pounds were soon subscribed by various citizens of the town, and in addition thereto Henry Collins, a wealthy merchant of Newport, gave the lot of land, then called Bowling Green, upon which the library now stands. At the same time a charter of incorporation was obtained, and thus was founded in 1747 the Redwood Library and Athenaeum, one of the oldest in the country, three in Philadelphia and the libraries of Harvard, Yale, the College of New Jersey and the College of William and Mary antedating.

The building was begun in 1748 and finished in 1750, the front and two smaller wings as it appears today being the original structure. The first meeting of the corporation was held in September 1747, when Abraham Redwood was elected president and Edward Scott, grand-uncle of Sir Walter Scott and master of the Newport grammar school, was chosen librarian. In 1858 an addition was made to the east of the original building and the two wings of the latter were extended to meet it. In 1874 the present stack room was built and last year the Perry alcove was added.

The library has invested funds amounting to about $150,000, mostly secured by bequests, but the income is not quite sufficient to conduct the institution as its friends desire and there is need of a further endowment to give it a more advanced standing and enable it to meet the demands of a present-day library. It has had many generous friends in the past, and there are undoubtedly many today, who, if they could know the needs, would rally to the support of the institution.

A TIN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph F. Rhodes entertained a small company Wednesday evening at their home on Warner place in honor of the tenth anniversary of their marriage, the proposed number of ten, including the host and hostess, being broken by the absence of a single couple. The invitations had been written on "cards" of tin, most of the gifts were of tin, and the supper was served from dishes and cups of tin, the "vase" for the flowers which adorned the table being also of tin. Music on the Victor closed the pleasant evening.
